

August Tropical Cyclone Climatology and TD #2

The graphic below depicts the tracks of all the tropical storms and hurricanes that passed through the red box in the lower right hand corner of the map during the month of August between 1851 and 2009. The red box is centered on the location of TD #2 from the 5 PM NHC advisory on Tuesday, August 11th, 2009.

It is important to note that past tracks are not a reliable predictor for current tropical cyclones. For the latest forecast track, refer to the National Hurricane Center's official advisory at <http://www.nhc.noaa.gov>
